Form 990, Part III, Line 4a - First Accomplishment

The Colorado Haiti Project (CHP) works in direct partnership with the people of Petit Trou de Nippes, Haiti to support conditions for a healthy and empowered population. At the core of the CHP - Petit Trou partnership lies the firm conviction that Haitian people should be at the center of their own narratives and that lasting solutions come only through local leadership and vision.

CHP learns from local leaders in Petit Trou as they identify critical needs within their community. Together with these leaders, we at CHP develop and implement a multi-sector package of education, health, economic development, and water, sanitation and hygiene programs that reinforce one another to create a direct and positive impact. With a geographically focused and integrated approach towards development, CHP's aims for sustainable progress in a challenging environment.

CHP Programs:

1) Education: Improving access to quality education, especially from an early age, has a direct impact on the long-term development and economic well-being of a community. Through CHP's Konbit program, the Colorado Haiti Project continues to support St. Paul's kindergarten, primary, and secondary school in Petit Trou with goals of community empowerment and improved quality of life for its constituents. CHP was the primary funder of school construction and today the school remains our foundational and primary program. Through sustained growth and development over the years, St. Paul's School in partnership with CHP has become an institution of excellence as recognized by being a consistent awardee of the Certificate of Excellence from the Ministry of Education. In the 2017-2018 school year, 300 students benefitted from St. Paul's unique and holistic educational services, these including coursework and hands-on experience in agriculture, girls' empowerment, and entrepreneurship. Looking towards the future, CHP has launched efforts to secure resources to bring a solar power grid system to the St. Paul's campus.

2) Health: In 2013, CHP entered into a partnership with the Ministry of Health (MOH), the Episcopal Diocese of Haiti, and the community of Petit Trou, with the goal of strengthening healthcare infrastructure in the region. This agreement focuses on empowering a strong local health network that will create sustainable solutions to the region's health needs.

Activities of CHP's Health Program include the following:

a) Training and funding of 45 community health care providers;

b) Increasing access to quality health care services and health outreach and education to the community by supporting needs of the local clinic;

c) Supporting the Haitian MOH in establishing a well-managed and appropriately stocked clinic (supplies, equipment, infrastructure) to provide quality health care;

3) Community-Based Outreach Programs: As part of CHP's integrated strategy of development, we support programs that promote opportunities for economic self-sufficiency and development for improvements in overall quality of life. Within this approach and at the request of Petit Trou community members, CHP has developed a vocational training program that focuses on building personal skills in entrepreneurship and generating household income. Activities supported through the program include:

a) A sewing co-op program with a component in marketing strategies;

b) A scholarship program that sends high achieving students on to higher education opportunities and trade schools;

c) An entrepreneurship and agriculture program for middle school students and local producers that focuses on building knowledge and skills to improve household income and nutrition;

Other Community-Based Outreach Programs have also grown and thrived in recent years. First, CHP has begun a Girl's Education and Empowerment Initiative (GEM) aimed at providing new and additional opportunities for young women to participate in civil society and shape their own futures. Additionally, with input and help from the local community, we operate a community seed bank that offers seeds, supplies and resources to support small farms in the region. Finally, CHP has invested efforts to improve access to clean water, levels of hygiene in the community, and the presence of sanitation facilities and infrastructure by drilling of 12 wells. These
